

Learning from Project Row Houses :: Transforming Community Through the Arts

Please join us for a screening of “THIRD WARD TX”

a one hour documentary on art, activism, and community building.

Third Ward Texas explores how 22 shotgun houses in Houston’s Third Ward have become home to cutting-edge public art and a home-grown challenge to traditional notions of community development.

Produced by Nancy Bless, Noland Walker, and Andrew Garrison.

Speakers and Resource Team

Speakers: Rick Lowe, Founder, Project Row Houses :: Andy Garrison, Filmmaker :: Cheryl Bowmer, Executive Director, Project Row Houses :: Stuart Kensinger, Developer, Third Ward :: Danny Samuels, Architect, Rice University Building Workshop | Resource Team: Susan Rodgerson, Artists for Humanity, Boston :: Reese Fayde, Former Director, Living Cities Initiative

9:00 AM-3:30 PM :: November 16, 2007
Harvard Graduate School of Design :: Piper Auditorium
48 Quincy Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts
Click for map and directions

Lunch will be served

Discussion will focus on the impacts of Project Row Houses on the Third Ward, and on the challenges and strategies associated with PRH and other successful art-based projects.

This event is by invitation only; you must be registered to attend. Please RSVP to:
Jennifer Olenn at: 617-492-8404 | jolenn@brunercott.com by October 20, 2007.

We look forward to seeing you there, and to a lively discussion!